Our Consulting Services

Initial Consultation

Price: $250

A one-on-one consultation designed to educate you on VA disability compensation benefits, eligibility requirements, and the overall claims process, including what the VA specifically looks for in accordance with federal regulations. This consultation also evaluates your current VA disability status to uncover opportunities for new or increased benefits. It includes a targeted review of your existing ratings, identification of overlooked or secondary conditions, and outlining the most effective path forward.

Comprehensive Records Review

Price: $650

An in-depth analysis of your medical and or service records, focused on building a fully developed and strategically supported claim. This process ensures that all required documentation is properly identified, organized, and aligned to support service connection.

We go beyond basic review by pinpointing underdeveloped or missed conditions, evaluating secondary relationships, and ensuring your claim is structured with the necessary evidence and forms to maximize its strength and likelihood of success.

Strategic Increase & Appeal Analysis

Why Choose Fidelis Legacy Solutions?

At Fidelis Legacy Solutions, we recognize that every veteran's case is unique—no two claims follow the same path. That's why our approach is individualized, strategic, and built around your specific medical history, service background, and long-term goals.

As a United States Marine, I understand firsthand how overwhelming and uncertain the transition process can be. Too often, veterans leave service without a clear understanding or guidance on how to navigate their benefits or advocate for themselves within the VA system. Fidelis Legacy Solutions was built to change that—providing the clarity, structure, and knowledge that many of us were never given.

VA disability benefits extend far beyond monthly compensation. They can provide access to critical healthcare, reduce reliance on private insurance, and help cover the cost of medications, medical devices, and hearing aids. For many veterans, these benefits directly impact their ability to maintain stability—whether that means affording basic necessities, maintaining a home, or providing for their family. These benefits are in place for you. Our role is to ensure you understand them, access them, and use them to their fullest potential.
